To: FCC

I would like to respectfully urge the FCC to reject NAB's petition 04-160. As a customer of satellite radio, it is important that I be able to enjoy all of the services that are offered. Terrestrial radio does not offer the services that I am more than willing to pay my subscription fee to receive XM has a superior distribution model, and I vote with my dollars to follow that model. This is an issue of competition pure and simple. The footprint of satellite radio is important not only for entertainment, but it is an excellent medium for the distribution of Homeland Security information. It cannot be bullied by an inferior business model that is interested only in keeping government mandated market share, instead of consumer driven market share. This country is about choices, and satellite radio is a superior choice. I need concise, updated and factual weather information as I travel quite frequently and I want to be able to find this information anytime I need to tune in across the country. Please continue to let consumers receive the services they pay for gladly.

Thank you,
Gary Clifton
